Midwinter Conference 2016 in San Antonio

Last month we had the opportunity to go to our YFC Midwinter Conference in San Antonio. That means four days full of training, fun, worship and sermons. Here are some thoughts about how it was and what we learned:

We need to offer scandalous love and humility to the kids we reach. Loving them even when they don't love us back. That's the kind of love God offered us through Jesus Christ... that's scandalous love.

The best way to represent Jesus to a broken and dying world is to represent him through the brokenness of our heart.

We need to live in the space of a sincere and contrite hearts, which tears down walls for the least and the lost.

What a tremendous experience! Lots of great training, worship, networking and being encouraged in the Word! One of the things that sticks out to me and my experience was the training I received on Leading Millennials. Some very practical, hands-on practices that will help me make our millennials more effective for the kingdom.

It was the first time for me to go to a Midwinter Conference. It was amazing to see how many people are doing the same ministry as we do all over the USA.

The speakers were really good and encouraging and reminded me of what ministry is all about - being real and showing the kids who Jesus is through our lives,

I thought the Mid-Winter Conference in San Antonio was just great. The weather was an awesome 80 degrees.

I enjoyed listening to all the speakers. I feel like I learned so much. And I can't even describe how the worship music touched every part of me. I would have liked to stand outside of the ballroom...I bet we rocked the house!!!
